Case - Timothy N. Pfeiffer,
Subject - Homicide, New Brunswick, N.J., Operative - 124.

November 6, 1922.  Continuing on the above matter, at about 8 p.m.
Operative again called upon Mrs. Simmons at #217 Prospect St., Susquehanna, Pa., and made inquiries as to whether she had heard anything from Mr. Dunham.
Being advised in the negative, Operative requested that if Mr. Dunham should call that Mrs. Simmons would only tell him that a man had called to see him in reference to a letter which he had written to him, and to then try and hold Mr. Dunham in conversation, and get in touch with Operative at the hotel or railroad station.

At 3 p.m. while at the railroad station a young woman approached Operative and advised him that Mrs. Simmons wanted Operative to call at her home at once.  Operative immediately proceeded to #217 Prospect St., and there met Mrs. Simmons.

Mrs. Simmons advised Operative that Mr. Dunham had called at her house and made inquiries concerning mail, and that she had told him that a man had called to see him in reference to a letter which he had written.  Mr. Dunham then advised Mrs. Simmons that he would talk with no one but Mrs. Hall,  Mrs.
Simmons thereupon grasping the name "Hall," remarked, "Oh, what is it concerning Mrs. Hall?"  Then Mr. Dunham related that on the night that Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were murdered that he was within possibly twenty feet of the spot, in company of a well known and well-to-do married woman of New Brunswick, N.J.
Mr. Dunham told Mrs. Simmons that under no consideration did he want this particular woman mixed up in this affair, and that if he was caught and held as a witness he surely would have to give her name, this he did not want to do; money in this matter was no consideration.  Mr. Dunham then remarked to Mrs. Simmons, "They came near enough getting me in New Brunswick, let alone getting me up here."

Mr. Dunham upon leaving Mrs. Simmons's house advised her to tell Operative that he would talk to no one but Mrs. Hall, and that what he had to
